

The Stanford World Language Project

presents

Oral Language Development The Foundation of Academic Literacy in the Elementary Classroom

Featuring Helena Curtain

Internationally known expert on second language teaching methodology and curriculum development, bilingual education, immersion programs and two-way immersion programs, especially at the elementary school level

Author of Languages and Learners: Making the Match: World Language Instruction in K-8 Classrooms and Beyond

March 4, 2017, 8:30-3:30

Stanford University, CERAS Building

$85, includes continental breakfast and lunch

To register, go to: <https://goo.gl/forms/ZYj5o4fzrs4lOx9q2>

Please send district PO or a check made payable to "Stanford University" to SWLP c/o Amy Peruzzaro, CERAS, Stanford, CA 94305-3001.

Experience strategies you can take to the classroom to help students strengthen their oral language abilities, contributing to an improved foundation for building literacy skills

Appropriate for both FLES and immersion teachers

Deadline for registration & payment: February 21, 2017

For more information please contact: Sally Mearns, smearns@stanford.edu

